Professional Summary

Full-stack developer working across Next.js/React on the frontend and FastAPI on the backend. Built and shipped DigiPanch, a full-stack e-governance platform with an AI assistant for citizen queries, and currently building hospital management interfaces at DAS Solutions.

Experience

Frontend Developer Intern DAS Solutions	02/2025 – Present Indore
- Developed Neural Infirmary, a hospital bed management system covering real-time bed allocation, discharge workflow, and patient records, on AWS Amplify Gen 2. - Built a full calendar UI for appointment scheduling and a TanStack Table data grid for bed and patient records with sorting, filtering, and pagination. - Wrote custom hooks (useBeds, useBedFilter, useBedActions) to separate data-fetching logic from UI components.

Projects

DigiPanch – AI-Powered Smart Panchayat Management System Next.js 16, FastAPI, PostgreSQL (Supabase), Clerk, Razorpay, ImageKit, Google Gemini, pgvector, AWS EC2, Vercel	digipanch.live
- Built a full-stack e-governance platform for certificate applications, grievance tracking, document uploads, and online payments. - Split the backend into feature modules (users, applications, payments, documents, grievances, officer dashboard) with FastAPI and SQLAlchemy, each exposing its own REST routes. - Built an AI assistant with Google Gemini and pgvector so citizens can ask questions about Panchayat services and government schemes and get answers pulled from stored documents. - Set up Clerk + JWT auth for Citizen, Officer, and Admin roles, used ImageKit for document storage, and integrated Razorpay for payments. - Deployed the backend on AWS EC2 and the frontend on Vercel.

Education

Bachelor of Computer Applications (BCA) — Final Year NIELIT Agartala	2023 – 2026
